VOLUME IV, NUMBER 11 THE GOLD CENTER NEVADA CITY, NEVADA COUNTY, CALIFORNIA. THE COUNTY SEAT PAPER JANUARY 27, 1930

STATE MINERS TO HAVE A PAPER EACH MONTH

That the Mining Association of California is moving steadily ahead is seen in the advance sheet issued by the Association which will form the nucleus of a monthly bulletin issued to the general membership of the Association at an early date.

The Amador Chapter organized at Jackson the past week has already a charter list of twenty five members and with the interest taken it should soon exceed the 100 mark. A. S. Howe, of Sutter Creek, the energetic chairman, is handling things in fine shape and is going after every ine there. A meeting has been arranged to organize a Chapter in Kern County on February 8th and considerable interest is being manifested. A movement is under way to organize in Butte county but leadership has been lacking there.

The mutual mining insurance organization has been held up temporarily by a technicality in the law but this should be ironed out any day. Secretary Kimmel reports having had three meetings with state insurance commissioner and he is showing cooperation in getting the movement under way, which is appreciated. It will be necessary to get 100 operators signed up to start the insurance company but this should not be a difficult task as the absurdly high premium rates now being charged are enough to drive them into anything that promises relief from such excessive cost.

Chairman James D. Stewart of the local mining chapter is arranging for a meeting to be held the coming month at Auburn at which time it is hoped that Placer county will unite whole heartedly with the movement to put mining back on its feet again.

The membership list in the state association is comng well along toward the 1000 mark and is hoped to push it to the 5000 mark by summer so that the aspirants for political office may have a chance to pledge their unqualified support to the job of getting mining back where it belongs.

The local Chapter lacks one member of having its first 100 members on its rolls and as soon as the membership committee gets under way with an active campaign it will take but little time to get the list to the 250 mark set. There is a blank form on another page of this issue which every one in mining in any way should sign and send n. Do yiur bit for gold mining.

SNOWBALLING BREAKS WINDOW FOR LARSEN

As was freely predicted during the recent snowfall that some plate glass window would be broken, was accomplished when one of the icy missiles struck the large window in Andrew Larsen's barber shop, shattering it badly. The missile throwers were careful to desist when the police force was around.

James Graham of Susanville was a recent visitor in Nevada City and on the Ridge, the latter place being where he was born. He is empliyed by the Fruit Growers Supply company.

Mrs. George Fortier is home from a trip to Los Angeles. Her sister, Mrs. T. H. Limnel of that city is showing improvement over a recent serious illness.

Elmer Peterson and Charles Gaus of North Bloomfield were business visitors in Nevada City the past week.

Forest Ranger George E. King of Goodyears Bar attended the stockmen's meeting in Nevada City the latter part of the week.

Samuel F. Moore, who was found dead in his home, was buried Friday from the Perry-Jefford Funeral chapel.

Jos. F. Stenger was in Auburn on Saturday night to attend the triple installation of Delta, Siloam and Roseville Royal Arch Chapters.

RESORT DEVELOPMENT AT GOLD WEDGE MINE

The Hughes mining and timber tract, situated on Deer Creek abive Nevada City, will be iffered for cabin and camp sites. The secretary M. W. Preston realizes the rare attractions of the district for an ideal year-round recreational center. He states that it is less than two hours ride from Sacramento, state capital, and a fine highway all the wy. This highway also extends into the Sierra Nevada range to and along the North Fork of the Yuba river. The marketing of the land has been underwritten by a strong realty company. The country offers good hunting and fishing as well as great scenic attractions.

Money raised fro the sales will be used in development of the Hughes mine, on the property. An assessment has just been levied to continue work at the mine.

LIVESTOCK ASSOCIATION HALD MEET SATURDAY

Chris Loney was elected president of the Tahoe Livestock Association held at Nevada City Saturday, and W. E. Wright was re-elected Secretary. The meeting was held at the National Hotel where a luncheon was served at noon

One of the principal talks was made by Forest Supervisor R. L. P. Bigelow who showed colored slides for illustrating his points. The matter of light burning was one of his lead topics.

Other subjects touched upon were rustling, range grass, aims and objects of the Association and its benefits to the stock raisers.

CONTEST DAMAGE SUIT BEGUN BY WAYNFLETE

Walter Waynflete, publisher of the Truckee Republican, started suit the past week through his attorney, Oscar E. Winburn, against one R. D. Landry, as the result of a subscription contest conducted last fall but which fell flat soon afterwards, due so Waynflete charges to Lndry's dropping out of the picture. Waynflete alleges that he is out of pocket some $2011.13 and also asked for $5000 damages suffered by the business.

The papers were filed in superior court. Landry is a professional contest manager.

J. H. MARRIOTT DEAD

Another priminent pioneer, James H. Marriott, has passed to the beyond. Mr. Marriott claimed the distinction of being the first white child born in Nevada City. His parents, James Marriott who met Sara O'Hara on a ship bound for California coming around the Horn, wed her in Sacramento in 1848. They came to Nevada City in 1850.

James Marriott after finishing his education in the local schools went to North Bloomfield to work in the mines. At 21 he became foreman of the famous Malakoff mine near North Bloomfield, and cast the last brick of gold from the mine when the ban was placed on hydraulic mining. Areplica of the brick is at the Ferry Building in San Francsico. He moved to the state of Nevada and engaged in mining and general mercantile business there for a number of years.

He was married twice, the first wife being Miss Mary Downing. Three children were born to this union, Mrs. Ella Doyle, and Lee R. Marriott of Ely, Nev. and Clara E. deceased. Miss Mary O'Connor of the ridge section was his second wife, and five children were born to them. They are, Mrs. Ethel M. Blair, and Albert Marriott of Roseville, Henry, Earl and Chester Marriott of Ely, also two sisters, Mrs. G. W. Buckley of San Jose, and Mrs. G. D. Kallenberger of Los Angeles; eleven grand children, a nephew, Joseph Marriott of Nevada City and a niece, Mrs. Harry Crase of Grass Valley.

James Marriott was born of pioneer parents in 1851 and possessed the generous attributes of the pioneer.

NSF ON A CHECK GIVES RICHARDS LITTLE TROUBLE

The letters NSF placed by a bank on a ten dollar check issued by Ted E. Richards, general manager of the Anglo Pacific Mines, Ltd., caused a lot of trouble for that estimable young gentleman. He had deposited an Eastern draft in the amout of $1200 and had gone to the Ruby mine, issuing several checks against his account.

H. W. Blood to whom was issued the $10 check started quick action when the check came back and had a string of sheriffs and deputy sheriffs on Richards trail in a hurry. Richards was snowbound at the mine and he was brought out to face his accuser. It developed that there had been a technical error in the signature on the draft deposited and checks coming in against the account were therefore returned Richards was in ignorance of the whole trouble until the posse blew into camp and he came to town and had things straightened out in a hurry.

Rumors had been flying thick and fast as they always do when there is a mess of some kind, and it was told that the men were unable to get their wages. A discharged employe who is reported to have carried off the time book is said to have been responsible for that trouble and as soon as that was recovered, the pay checks were issued. It was unfortunate for Richards that the stormy weather came on when it did as it held him up from getting back down to civilization in time to avert the troubles.

Things are progressing farovably at the property and the first shipment of bullion has been made to the mint.

LOCAL AIRPORT RECOGNIZED IN APPOINTMENT

Further recognition of Nevada City's ambitions to possess an airport that will measure up to government specifications was given new impetus Saturday when W. H. Griffiths ,secretary of the Chamber of Commerce was appointed a member of the Aeronautical Committee of the Sacramento Valley Council of the California State Chamber of Commerce, at the instance of A. E. Goddard of Sacramento, Chairman of the Council.

The local Chamber is back of a movement to get recognition for a Class A airport site in this county. The inspector gave a site on Cement Hill such a rating recently.

The program of the Aeronautical Commitee covers the development of landing fields, aeronautical legislation, enforcement of state and federal aeronautical laws, and the preparation of courses in aviation. Assistance is also being given to the development o fall forms of commercial aviation.

In making the appointment, Mr. Goddard stated that he felt Griffiths would be able to give valuable counsel to the committee an that in return he would be doing a good service for our community in bringing home to it the importance of the developments in aviation.

The next meeting of the committee will be held next Friday at Sacramento.

Mrs. George Calanan is home from a visit in San Francisco. Her daughter, Mrs. Gibson, recently operated upon for appendicitis, accompanied her home for a visit.

FORMER RESIDENTS OF SAN JUAN RIDGE IN REUNION

(Contributed)

On Wednesday evening, January 22nd at the Elks Club in San Francisco a delightful evening was spent by a number of former residents of the San Juan Ridge. Those present were:

Wm. R. Twamley, native of San Juan, Attorney Humboldt Bank Bldg., San Francisco.

E. H. Kinney, native if San Juan, Pacific Telephone Co. San Francisco

Frank T. Deasy, native Columbia Hill, Justice of Peace, San Francisco.

John P. Coughlan, native Columbia Hill, Vice Pres. P. G. & E. Ci. San Francisco.

O. P. Stidger, native of San Juan, Attirney, 628 Montgomery St., San Francisco.

Asst. Attorney General E. B. Power of San Francisco and F. L. Arbogast of Oakland, having an inkling that something was up, fillowed them in, and the bunch being possessed of the spirit and hospitality of the Pioneers permitted them to remain. Will R. Twamley was host and had a splendid banquet served.

Many incidents and pranks of boyhoods happy days were related, and the noble characters of Pioneers extolled.

Mr. Power, who possesses a most valuable and cimplete set of Directories of Nevada County, had the fore thought to bring two volumnes, Brown & Dallison's Nevada, Grass Valley and Rough and Ready Directody published in 1856 and Bean's History and Directiry of Nevada County, published in 1867, from which many incidents of the early history of the Ridge were read by John P. Coghlan, Vice President of the P. G. & E. Co., who learned to read well from his teacher, F. L. Arbogast in 1889 and 1890.

The firmer volumne gives a short history of Nevada County written by the Hon. Aaron A. Sargent, setting forth the organization of the County on May 18th, 1851, together with the first officers elected the Fourth Monday of May 1851 as follows:

Thomas H. Caswell was chosen County Judge;

J. R. McConnell, District Attorney;

Theodore Miller, Countq Clerk;

John Gallagher, Sheriff;

C. Marsh, County Surveyor

T. G. Williams, Assessor, and

H. C. Hodge, Treasurer.

The vote cast in the electiin being about 2900.

The account of the only duel fought in the County was read. Geo. M. Dibble and E. B. Lundy were the principals and fought over a trivial matter with Colt's revolvers at fifteen paces. Dibble was kile dand buried on the spot and Lundy was afterwards accidentally burned to death at Sonora.

The duel between Will Twamley and Ed Furth was not chronicled.

It being the unanimous opinion of all present at the next Fourth of July celebratiin held in Western Nevada County shiuld be at North San Juan, it being centrally located and being of most importance, it being centrally located and being of most importance, it was decided to affect a permanent organziation of this "Back to the old Home Committee". Will R. Twamley and F. L. Arbogast were unanimously elected President and Secretary respectively.

Mr. Twamley then appointed the following:

Judge Frank Deasey, chairman of the committee on arrangements.

Frank Morris chairman of the committee of organization.

E. B. Power chairman on the cmmittee of directories and history.

O. P .Stidger, chairman of the committee on pioneers and records.

Mr. Stidger is President of the Society of California Pioneers and is deeply interested in the maintenance of their offices and exhibit in San Francsico and would welcome anw original history or record of Pioneers.

The meeting was extremely interesting and instructive to those present and reluctantly adjourned at a late hour to meet again at the Athens Athletic Club, Oakland on Ed. H. Furth's birthday.

HARRIS AND MATTESON START SUIT ON KING

T. M. Harris and D. E. Matteson have commenced action against Roy J. King, erstwhile mining promoter and his wife over a promissory note which Harris and Matteson had to pay recently and which represented mony allegedly advanced to finance operations of the Grass Valley Gold Mines. The amount represented in the attachment proceeding brought in court the past few days is $939.69.

A considerable amount of property in King's name and in which he is reputed to have an interest has been placed under attachment by the sheriff's office including portion of Lot 3, Block 15, an undivided half intererest in another portion of the same lot, and a 14-30 interest in and to certain land and mineral rights in Rought and Ready township.

The prooceedings are the outcome of a note signed by Harris and Matteson and also by the Kings, it is alleged, to the Nevada County Bank on July 1st, 1926, and which the plaintiffs allege was recently paid by themselves. They claim that they received no consideration therefor, alleging the proceeds went to the defendants. King claims the money received from the note, it is reported, went to pay pressing financial obligations.

King has recently filed another suit hoping to land some of the stock in the Grass Valley Gold Mines Company.

Nilon, Hennessy & Kelly represent the plaintiffs in the action.

JENNINGS GETS POLICE POST AND OTHER JOBS

Wearing a lot of titles is a popular pastime with the local chief of police job as the city dads view it so they tacked the job onto Lloyd Jennings in addition to his other duties as street superintendent, superintendent of water works, dog catcher, custodian of city hoosegau, and other titles too numerous to mention. For all that Lloyd's salary went up 25 kopecks to $125. Water Collector Ada Rich was presented with the job of license and tax collector and she was given 10 simoleons extra, making her stipend now $85. The board has figured it out that it is now about $600. per year ahead on the deal.

HOGE TO START DRIFTING IN FEW DAYS ON SHOOT

Work was resumed on Thursday as per schedule at the properties of the Hoge Development Company north of town. The work of cutting the station and the sump at the 300 level is to be completed the next few days.

Two drifts are to be started at once to determine the location and extent of the ore shoots exposed in the upper workings. Two more drifts in other directions, will be shortly started. Three shifts are being used at the present to get the station work completed at the earliest possible moment.

It is the plan of the company to put in automatic electric pumps using a float switch system which will greatly simplify the pumping problem.

Operations at the Hoge properties will be watched with a great deal of interest from now on as the workings on the 300 level are extended into virgin territory.

Seems to Be "No New Thing Under the Sun"

It seems possible to find almost any desired object in an ancient tomb. The latest discovery is that of a zipper that handy device for fastening tobacco pouches and galoshes, which was unearthed in a Viking burial ground near Tilsit, East Prussia. The modern age has known this contraption less than 15 years, and credits it to a Swedish engineer. Safety pins, supposedly a modern convenience, have been found in ancient Pompeii. A rubber shoe was reported from a tomb near Budapest, although the first historical account of rubber is in Columbus' story of his second voyage. Ur of the Chaldees yielded powder puffs and eyebrow tweezers, and the royal lipstick was found to have been laid to rest with the widow of King Tut.

The preacher of the Ecclesiastes spoke wisely when he said, "There is no new thing under the sun." It would not be surprising to hear of Caligula's platinum-plated radio set being fished out of Lake Nemi's mud, or Mrs. Noah's electric washing machine reposing in the debris of the ark.

Backward Barbados

Barbados is a British island in many respects, but it lacks all the elements of progress usually found under the Union Jack. The island lies in the sweep of the trade winds is wonderfully fertile and is easily one of the most healthy islands in the Carribbean because of the equable climate. In Bridgetown the capital of the island, the houses of the British residents are as English as they are in Liverpool or Manchester, while the public buildings are copied from England. The negroes in this island work harder than in the others and, as they are plentiful, their pay is very low. The grinding of corn and other farm commodities is done by the old prehistoric windmill, while machinery of most kinds is taboo.

Anxious

Now they are telling the story of the farmer who motored to New York. Everything was all right until he reached the city itself and then he found himself driving round and round until at length he deliberately drove through a traffic signal and brought an irate policeman to his side.

"I'm trying to find a place to park my car," he wailed. "Where in heck is this here Park avenue, anyway?"

THE WAR IS ON!

By Vivian Cerro.

On January 21, 1930, each and every student of the Nevada City High School gravely prepared to go into the din of the battle, led by nothing other than his own conscience. At precisely 9:15, Mr. Wilson acted as drummer boy and sounded the drums of battle. The drums of battle. What an unwelcome sound. Nevertheless the students bravely filled their pens with as much ammunition as possible, marveling at their own courage and marched forward ready to attack their enemy—a long never ending line of Examinations—something for which some students were quite unprepared. To mke matters worse the line of Examinations were quite strongly backed up by seven grim, firm teachers.

A peal from the drum! Students drew nervous hands across their pale foreheads beaded with perspiration. With a shrill command of "Attention! Don't fire 'til you see the whites of the papers"—the students once more tightly gripped their pens and began. The battle was on! Unconscious of his own pain, each student steadily forged ahead, quite unable to help his falling comrades, much as he wished to. After two days of steady firing and reloading of pens with ammunition, the students fnally mowed right through that line of Examinations.

On January 24, nearly all fighters were rewarded by finding that they had safely passed the territory of "Flunk", thus winning a great victory. The others who fell behind are martyrs to the cause. Heaven help them. May they safely pass the territory of "Flunk" and gain victory at the next terrible battle of Examinations.

Ray Whitburn motored to Davis and met his wife and son, who had been visiting in Oakland with Mrs. J. T. Waldron since the holidays.

Mrs. John O'Donnell has returned from a visit with relatives in San Francisco and Fresno.

Ancient City of Paris Has Had Many Masters

Upon a bit of an island shaped like a ship, and set in the river Seine about a half mile in length have been enacted some of the world's most historic scenes. Just prior to the Christian era a subtribe of Gauls, called Parisii, selected the place as one easily defended, and fortified it, calling it Lutetia. Today, walking along the "ship," you come to a short and narrow street, not more than a hundred feet long by six feet broad, the Rude la Colombe. Here traced across the pavement is a narrow line of stones showing where once stood part of the rude fortifications of those ancient Gauls who fought the Romans 2000 years ago. And high above the ancient site, marking the advance of man is strung from the roofs across the street the wires of a radio. Upon these ancient Gauls came the conquering Romans, who built a pagan temple to Jove on the site where a few centuries later was to rise Notre Dame which has stood for 750 years in its completed grandeur. Followed the Franks from Clovis to Louis IX who all dwelt upon the "boat." Louis IX built Sainte Chapelle church. Under Charlemagne in the year 800 the island became the capital of France. In that same century the Northmen beat up the Seine in their long ships time and time again laid siege to the city sacked it and ruined the suburban abbeys. Then followed more peaceful times, till in 1163 the first stone of Notre Dame was laid, and still stands as chief adornment to the stern of the "ship." At one side of Notre Dame is the oldest hospital in the world God's mansion, twin in age with Notre Dame.

Indeed, if one were to deal fully with the "ship," the historic buildings upon it, and the relics they house today, they would be writing much of French history.

Early Electric Light

More than a century ago a Professor Meinecke of Halle, in Germany, succeeded in producing "a brilliant illumination by means of electric light and with the aid of artificial air enclosed in glass tubes," it was recorded in the New Monthly Magazine, published in London at that time. "As the electric sparks propagate themselves to infinity," the article continued, "the professor thinks it will be possible to light up a whole city with a single electrifying machine, and at a trifling expense, by the adoption and probable improvement of the apparatus he has already invented."—Kansas City Star.

A RILL FROM THE OLD FASHIONED BRIDGE

By Evelyn Granholm

"In the eyes of the people of Nevada City, I am only a steel structure, merely a means of crossing Deer Creek. But through all my years of service I have seen people come and go, have watched their ways and habits. By a downward glance I see the small stream below. It, also, I have watched for years. Yes, I am just a steel structure on which all day and half the night men, women, and children travel. Oftentimes I am the stopping place for those in deep conversation. Kindly words are exchanged and sometimes secrets. I hear all but tell none.

"Tiny tots have grown into old men and women since I first supported my people oh, so long ago. Then I was strong and durable and had no fear of collapsing. But now with the steady movement of time, I, like all others, am becoming tirely gone and replaced by another, weak and feeble. But until I am en- I will support all who endeavor to cross me".

PLACERVILLE GAME

The Nevada City High School basketball teams played their first games of the new year on Friday, January 17, at Redmen's Hall.

Four games were played, the first being one between two girls' teams of the high school. The game between El Dorado C's and Nevada City's C's was a very interesting game and up to the last few minutes the final score was in doubt. The game ended with Nevada City on the short end of a 13—10 score.

The fastest and hottest game of evening was between the two B teams. The teams were evenly matched and had plenty of fight. With three minutes to play the score was tied at 16 all. Both teams were fighting hard for the points needed to win, and Donald Macari of Nevada City dropped the ball through the basket. A minute later the same thing was repeated. The ball was tossed up but the final whistle blew before another score could be made. The final score was Nevada City 20, Placerville 16.

The A game was also very close and both teams were fairly evenly matched. The Nevada City team ran up big score at the start and then allowed the Placerville team to catch up with them but the Placerville team was too late to win and when the final whistle blew, Nevada City had 20 ponts to Placerville's 18.

Good sportsmanship was shown throughout the game and the referee, F. A. Zaner, of Roseville, performed to the satisfaction of both the coaches and the teams.

LOST HOPES MONUMENT

By Margaret Rector

Seated in the shadow of the head frame oft he old Providence Mine, I watched the slowly stealing rays of sunset bathe the autumn woods in their liquid fire, and liven the fading foliage of the trees with a color matching their own scarlet hues. Not far below, the waters of Deer Creek, gleaming like gold, gurgle their way westward toward the vast glowing sunset, as if to extinguish its fiery might. Above me, the crumbling timbers of the head frame, like some gaunt gibbet of old, awaiting only the hangman and his victim, rear their beams aloft, and cast lengthening shadows on the rocky floor below. What a sad monument of departed glory, what a pathetic picture of activities now no more,—a deserted mine.

Only a few years ago, these mines nestling in the beautifully wooded canyon of Deer Creek, near Nevada City, were scenes of bustling activity. Within a stone's throw alarm of the whistle to go about their daily toil, burrowing into the hundreds of men awaited the shrill alarm of the whistle to go about depths of Mother Earth, and the woodland paths to "town" resounded with the laughter of many merry miners. Now, alas, the only which greets me is the roar of the creek purring its rocky course, and the miners are no more.

With good reason the miners picked this park like spot for their early miners, for many millions of gold were the harvest of the Deer Creek miner. Men made fortunes, and some lost them, for recklessness was common in the "days of gold". Perhaps the richest of the group was the Providence Mine. A colony of French people came from France to examine this property and buy it. One million dollars was their offer, but the owners wanted more, so the French people did not obtain it, although they lived in Nevada City for some time, and became quite well known here.

The Champion Mines Company finally acquired the group. At the height of its success, its manager, a most prosperous citizen, disappeared while on a hunting trip, and was never seen nor heard of afterward. His wife mourned him for dead, and finally took another husband. Will he, like Enoch Arden, some day wander back to a deserted home and a deserted mine? Who knows?

Will these old mines return, will these mines again be opened, and respond to the tread of many workers? As I gaze musingly over the twilight landscape, a last beam of sunlight illumines my dreary old head frame, and signals it out from the now somber background of the forest. Perhaps in this favorable omer I shall find my answer.

QUESTION OF THE HOUR WHAT ABOUT MINING

(Western Sentinel)

At the urgent request of many friends of the mining industry the Western Sentinel feels constrained to republish the following editorial which first appeared in our issue of January 3, 1930. The article has found such favor that the Northern California Mining Association has had t prnted n leaflet form and is now giving it wide distribution all over the country:

Undoubtedly, it has long been clear to hte majority of our readers that the cause of mining in California has been of paramount importance in our mind. We have been backing history to repeart itself because of our innate belief in the industry's comeback, even though momentuous developments seemed to get ni place because of lack of proper financing.

Quite lately we were guilty of making "the ridiculous statement" that gold would be shipped to Britain, and we outlined the radical bearish results of such action. The last shipment amounted to nearly fifty tons, and the bears acted in the perfectly logical way.

We will now say that the last of the gold shipments is no more in sight than is the real end of the slump. Something like thirty tons have gone to Paris during the last few days. It is said that the francs receivel for the gold will come back. Don't you believe it. IT WILL NEVER COME BACK! Another paper stated on December 27, 1929, that this shipping of gold "is very interesting but not tremenduously important. American industry, not American gold, is the really strong thng". It is important enough to affect the course of a world war or to upset exchange. We are not studying the relation of gold wealth to requirement this week, however, we did so during the last month and during the Great War. We shall have further cause to study it before long, and our advice still is, hold what you've got, get out of rocky investments get your money nearer to Nature help make up the gold depletion by mining some more.

What would the wise heads say if we were to suggest a rise in the price of the universal exchange—GOLD? Well, we do suggest it NOW.

So, the slump runs its merry gamut of ruin, whilst the smiling financial editors of most great daly newspapers wander into the press rooms to be greeted by the chorus from the staff, "there are brighter days ahead'. Despite these oft-repeated prophesies the muchly vaunted "brighter" days are still in the offing. But, do not confound our well-based pessimism.

Money must earn 8%; nay 10%. When employed in well-chosen legitimate mining it can and does do it easily. In fact, n the aggregate, it pays as much as 182% on every cent invested in it in the United States. Then why be content to invest it in stock that merely pays the maximum 8%, and which paid the original holders hundreds of percent. Why not do something new, be an original holder in new issues of worth.

To gamble in counters as diaphanous as mere promises, with litile in the way of indispensible good will to uphold them, is to bet on the enplein of the roulette wheel just because the broker tells you that you have an "even chance". It's forgetting the intrinsic industry which makes the world go 'round, that industry which pay ten times the interest of any other industry—MINING.

Bankers and brokerage houses partners in legalized banditry, have by specious talk, weaned many investors away from common sense and put them in that somnolent state where they are easily led like lambs ti the slaughter. Now, these same bankers and brokers are finding themselves up against it, they are losing their clients, their persuasive arguments are no longer effective and their "offerings" are only clutched by the dying ones. Now, then is the time of opportunity fir mining in our State.

Mining requires money, and the necessity is absolute. Mine operators require partners. The public has some money left and may come in and may rebuild the position recorded before being stripped by the fall of the boosted "gilt-edged" paper. Yet, the self-appointed arbiters of investors' cash will have what is left. But by reason of past experiences and a long list of unfulfilled promises, they have no right to demand any following whatever. They would all be in poor-houses in no time were the gambling instinct removed from men—another striking commentary on the levity of our civilization which loads its least worthy members with riches. The return from bunk gambling to the saner method of employing money in real industry is slow, apparently, uncertain. But a flood of light has been let in on the recent stock market tactics and wise people will allow their money residue to be piloted into more helpful industrial channels, the holdngs of which are not at the mercy of stock buccanneers or the markets which they manipulate.

If we are to enlarge the foundations upon which our prosperity rests, we must, as a militant minority, impose our reasons on a majority of the community. Since the stock market manipulators have run contrary to the conventions of the fair-minded society, they should not squeal shoul dsociety retaliate and leave them with empty board rooms.

Mining exchanges may for a time attract the scorched butterflies, and the wily manipulators, in the despairing hope of again attracting the "flies" to the once alluring "light", are uttering the veriest rubbish regarding the promised "prosperity" and boom. Their talk is framed on the same unstable basis from whence started the last "bull" swing that later took a startling tumble. It is the same old house cards, deftly built for a new crop of suckers. It is all nebulous now, but it contains all the elements of terror in the making. We are merely warning our readers, at the same time pointing out a better, safer way to opulence and without acrimonious discussion.

While all this is a very opposite warning to investors and securties managers alike, we cannot change human temperament, cannot swing all hands over to mining for, on the one hand a sort of hero worship has enhaled evey predatory ruffian from Hereward the Wake to Claude Duval, or yesterday's bank or stock bandit—and on the other hand there are high class mining experts whose geese are all swans and always will be. Until cold blooded mine valuers step in there will be losses.

However, our readers do not forget that California's gold has in the past attracted the attention of the entire world; that her wealth primarily came from it, that her citizens are the sturdy children of sturdier pioneer miners. If the nations carry out their international gold payment obligations, they will require fifty times the gold held in in the world today. The wealth of California and its stupenduous growth is based on the gold it has produced. Today its production is negligible, not because its deposits ar eexhasuted but because its people have been led away from legitimate investment into the realms of high, sure-loser finance, into gambling in faulty issues in whch they are shuttlecocks to be knocked here or there by conscenceless manipulators who have had the game all their own way.

Three months ago we asked our readers in all earnestness to get their money out of all flimsies, to start digging it into the ground in the development of sound mining affairs anywhere in the State. Surely this end is inevitable if an end ever was nevtable. While in this county the people are more for farming notwithstanding our great mining realities, those in other counties have taken our advice and reports go to show much greater mining activity and yield.

While it certainly looks as if honesty is a best policy so far as what is called the "higher class" investments is concerned, it is not so in the case of mining. We have dared to open our eyes and to record that which we have seen and we do not sympathize with the spectacle. Far from it. We say, go back to mining. We are tying our hopes to the possibility of enlarging the group—which has already taken our advice and won—into more of a universal thing. Those who support mining must do no reckless spending on old historical mines, for, whle that is beautiful in theory it has a nasty trick of making stockholders feel sick.

THE DISCOVERY OF GOLD IN CALIFORNIA

"On our arrival in the Valley we first built the double log cabin, afterwards known as Hasting's & Co's. store. After the last of September, as Capt. Sutter wanted a couple of capable men to construct a dam across the American river at the grist mill—near where the Pavilion now stands— I sent the two Willis', as the most capable; (Wm. Cunce being in feeble health left about the same time) and I received Henry Bigler, Israel Smith, Wm. Johnson and — Evans in return; and shortly afterwards I employed Charles Bennett and Wm. Scott, both carpenters. The above named individuals, with some ten Indians, constituted my whole force.

"While we were in the habit at night of turning the water through the tail race we had dug for the purpose of widening and deeping the race, I used to go down in the morning to see what had been done by the water through the night; and about half past seven o'clock on or about the 19th of January—I am not quite certain to a day, but it was between the 18th and 20th of that month—1848, I went down as usual, and after shutting off the water from the race, I stepped into it, near the lower end, and there, upon the rock, about six inches beneath the surface of the water, I discovered the gold. I was entirely alone at the time. I picked up one or two of the pieces and examined them attentively; and having some general knowledge of minerals. I could not call to my mind more than two which in any way resembled this—sulphuret of iron, very bright and brittle; and gold, bright, yet malleable; I then tried it between two rocks and found that it could be beaten into different shape, but not broken. I then collected four or five pieces and went up to Mr. Scott, who was working at the carpenter's bench making the mill wheel 'with the pieces in my hand, and said, 'I have found it'.

"'What is it?' inquired Scott.

"'Gold,' I answered.

"'Oh no,'" returned Scott, 'that can't be'.

"I replied positively—'I konw it to be nothing lese'.

"Mr. Scott was the second person who saw the gold. W. J. Johnson, A. Stephens, H. Bigler, and J. Brown who were also working in the mill yard, were then called up to see it. Peter L. Wimmer, Mrs. Jane Wimmer, C. Bennet, and J. Smith were at the house; the latter two of whom were sick; E. Persons and John Wimmer (a son of P. L. Wimmer), were hunting oxen at the time. About ten o'clock the same morning, P. L. Wimmer came down from the house, and was very much surprised at the discovery, when the metal was shown him; and which he took home to show his wife who, the next day, made some experiments upon it, by boiling it in strong lye, and saleratus; and Mr. Bennet by my directions beat it very thin.

"Four days afterwards I went to the Ford for provisions, and carried with me about three ounces of the gold, which Capt. Sutter and I tested with nitric acid. I then tried it in Sutter's presence by taking three silver dollars and balancing them by the dust in the air and then immersed both in water, and the superior weight of the gold satisfied the both of us of its nature and value.

"About the 20th of February, 1849, Capt. Sutter came to Coloma, for the first time, to consummate an agreement we had made with a a tribe of Indians in the month of September previous, to-wit:—that we live with them in peace on the same land.

"About the middle of April the mill commenced operation, and after cutting a few thousand feet of lumber was abandoned ;as all hands were intent upon gold digging. In December '48, Capt. Sutter came again to Coloma, and some time in that month sold his interest in the mill to Messrs. Ragley & Winters, of whch new firm I became a member. The mill was soon again in operation, and cut most of the lumber of which the town of Coloma was built.

"The first piece of gold which I found weighed about fifty cents. Mr. Wmmer, having bought a stock of merchandise some time about May or June, 1848; and Mrs. Wimmer being my treasurer, used four hundred and forty dollars of my money to complete the purchase; and among which was the first piece of gold which I had found. Where that went, or where it is now, I believe that nobody knows".

Hutchings commented on the interview with General Sutter with a simple plea for amelioration of the conditions then confronting Sutter. The latter then faced financial ruin and he would, historians agree, have been the wealthiest man on the Pacific Coast had Marshall's discovery been mde a year or so later. The discovery of gold wrought his ruin. Hutchings explains this paradox as fillows:

"Unfortunately for Gen. Sutter, he had one faling—his heart was too large and confiding. The men who shared most largely in his princely hospitality and confidence were the first to take advantage of it, by stealing away his possessions. His generous nature taoght him to feel that all white men were honest— but he did not find them so;—a mistake to which is attributed his present impoverished circumstances. Now, when he should be enjoying the fruit of his long and enterprising labors in peace, he is annoyed with contentions and lawsuits innumerable—simply in trying to hold his own! Even the quet and pleasant Hock Farm—his homestead—(a spot which is ever sacred to the heart of an American) —was sold, not long since, under the hammer of the sheriff. Recently, however, it has been redeemed, at a great sacrifice. And this is the man to whom we are so much indebted for the gold discovery. May God forgive us Californians for our shameful indifference to the Old Pioneer".

LONG FORGOTTEN GOLD FOUND IN GHOST CITY

TONOPAH, Nev., Wallace Dowell and James Handal, two Nevada prospectors have made a new kind of "strike". On a recent trip through the hills hunting for gold and silver outcrops they wandered into the old ghost city of Aurora, famed as the early Nevada home of Mark Twain, where they camped for the night. They poked around an old cabin to see what they might salvage in the way of souvenirs. Under the rotten old floor, almost ready to fall in, they found a dilapidated old box containing $5,000 n blood-stained $20 gold coins. The coins all carried ancient dates, some of the vintage of 1852 and 1863.

Aurora was at one time the center of a boundary line war between California and Nevada, but after a government survey the cmp was awarded to Nevada. It was a wild, tough camp in the heydey of its career. The story is told of a little girl whose parents were moving from some other camp to Aurora. As the stage was about to leave for the family's new home, the little girl fell down upon her knees and raised her little hands to heaven. "Good-bye God", she murmured, "we are going to Aurora".

At one time (1864) a vigilance committee was organized to clean iut the lawless element. Governor Nye heard of it and telegraphed to County Commissioner Samuel Young cautlining him against violence. An hour later the wires carried this terse message to the governor: "All quiet and oderly. Four men will be hung in half an hour".

The mining industry needs an effective organization at once if it is to be rehabilitated and placed on a par with the industry in other metal producing states and made attractive to investing capital. The new state mining association is already functioning in an effective manner, although but two months old. A mutual insurance company is being incorporated which should reduce the cost of compensation insurance two thirds by another year and lift this heavy cost from the mining industry. If you want to see the industry flourish once more, you as an individual are going to invest five dollars a year to help bring this about. Sign the application blank below and send with your remittance to A. A. Willoughby, Secretary, Nevada City, Calif. Receipt will be mailed.

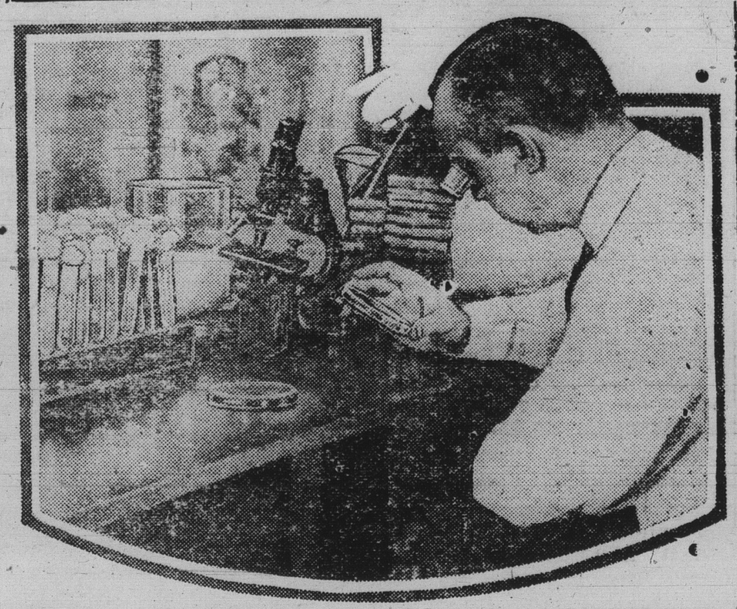
Move to Wipe Out "Athlete's Foot" Menace in Cities of United States



ENOUGH tiny parasites to infect every person in the United States with athlete's foot are lurking on the glass plate shown above. They are being examined by a New York bacteriologist. The plate contains billions of Tinea Trichophytons, which cause the foot malady, a form of ringworm, and these parasites were cultivated from a single specimen overnight.

Widespread evidence of this disease, which has caused some schools to close and has indicated that an outbreak of it might come to any village or city of the United States, has caused medical men in all parts of the country to study means by which it may be eradicated. Constant use of antiseptic is being urged as a means to aid the fight against this age-old malady which has recently taken a more serious appearance in this country. The photograph was taken in the Lease Laboratories in New York where scientists are constantly studying the disease in an effort to control it.

FRENCH CORRAL ITEMS

FRENCH CORRAL, Jan. 25, (Specl to The Nugget)—Well, here in last month if the year almost gone. We may not have noticed the flight of time as we were so busy commenting on the unusual weather conditiins, which by now have settled down to cloudy skies and frequent showers.

We are pleased ti boast of good health conditions in French Corral and on the San Juan Ridge in general, as none of the epidemics that have been prevalent in other parts of the county, have come into our section.

People haven't been doing much touring or visiting these stormy days, but we have heard of several making a trip from the City and other bay towns, just to see the snow!

W. E. Moulton made his usual business trip to Marysville Saturday He was accompanied by Bill Douglass, who has for some time been a resident, but now has gone to Roseville to work for the Roseville Meat Market.

"Buzz" Calanan of Ray's Ranch has made frequent visit to this place during the week to care for the cattle on his ranch below French Corral.

Miss Louise Moulton, who has been spending the week at home on account of her school at North Bloomfield being "snowed in", went to Nevada City Friday evening to go by stage from the latter place to North Bloomfield to be on hand to resume her school work Monday.

School was resumed in French Corral this week.

Ernest Collins of Sweetland was a Monday visitor.

Levin Brown of Sweetland had business here Monday.

Clyde Browning made a business trp to Nevada City Tuesday.

H. Browning returned from the foot hills Wednesday. He had been helping W. P. Clerkin look after his cattle.

Clyde Browning made a trip to Brown's Valley Wednesday where he will be detained for several days.

Henry Flynn, who is employed at Colgate, made a trip to Nevada City Thursday. He was accompnied by Mrs. K. Sullivan, and Miss Nelly Sullivan of French Corral, who will visit with friends fir a few days.

Miss Millie Clerkin and Mrs. Adele Browning made a trip to Nevada City Thursday, to be in attendance at a meeting of Women of Woodcraft lodge if which both are members.

We are glad to hear that plans are being made for the resumptiin of the Turpentine Industry. We believe this will be a boon to our county.

We were sorry to learn of the death of Will Walsh, who passed away at his home in Kennet Tuesday. Mr. Walsh was born and raised in Shasta County and was one of the most beloved and respected citizens. For the past 28 years he has held the position of Supervisor of the 4th District. He was well known to many on the San Juan Rdge and made many trips to that place. He was a relative of P. H. Flynn of Nevada City, but who resided in Birchville for many years. We extend deepest sympathy to members if Mr. Welsh's family.

We are sorry to know that another of the old time Ridgites has been called. James Marriott, who passed away at Roseville recently, was fir many years a resident of North Bloomfield and well known on the Ridge. We extend our sympathy to his family.

Proves Authenticity of Map Drawn by Columbus

A recent lecture at the Seville exhibition by the French expert, Charles de la Ronciere, gave the result of modern investigations regarding some ancient cartographers. St. Louis, sailing on the crusade to Tunis in 1270, studied a marine chart made by Genoese. But the Majorcan mapmakers were the more famous.

On Angelino Dulcert's planisphere made in 1375, is correctly marked the desert town of Ouatata, in Morocco, where the French troops were the first Europeans to enter in 910. Timbuc too, first visited by a white man in 1828, is correctly sited on a Catalan map made in the Fourteenth century The Genoese, Majorcan and Catalan geographers were in touch with Henry the Navigator's famous school at Sagres, in Portugal.

But the most interesting of M de la Ronciere's discoveries is that which permits him to affirm that a map preserved in Paris is the work of Christopher Columbus himself, executed by him before starting on his voyage to America.

Woodpecker "Burglar"

A burglar alarm kept sounding in the office of a Brooklyn protective agency. Two sleuths were sent with their guns and handcuffs to the signaling house. Entering with a pass key they crept up the stairs, listening to the tat-tat-tat that greeted them like a safe being drilled. Trailing the noise, the detectives got their "man." The woodpecker which had been pecking at one of the alarm wires was taken back to the office but it won its freedom when it refused to eat or drink.

ACTRESS TELS SECRET

Tells How to Darken Gray Hair With a Home-Made Mixture.

Joicey Williams, the well-known American actress, recently made the following statement abou gray hair, and how to darken it, with a home-made mixture:

"Anyone can prepare a simple mixture at home that will gradully darken gray, streaked or faded hair, and make it soft and glossy. To a half-pint of water add 1 ounce of bay rum, a small box of Barbo Compound, and ¼ ounce of glycerine.

These ingredients can be bought at any durg store at very little cost. Apply to the hair twice a week until the desired shade is obtained. This will make a gray-haired person look twenty years younger. It does not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy and does not rub off".

Stature Really Matter of Little Importance

When Japan emerged from splendid isolation and entered into competition with western nations, the abbreviated stature of the Nipponese was a source of worry to their leaders, remarks a writer in the Boston Globe.

They sent missions abroad to learn the tricks of occidental civilization.

One day a Japanese mission came nome and reported that it had solved a great national problem Weren't all the western peoples reared on a milk diet? Milk must therefore be the secret of raising a nation of tall men

Immediately the milk diet became the great Japanese hobby The big wigs in high government bureaus set the example At intervals, they would enter carrying a tray of milk bracers

"Ah," the bureaucrat would exclaim as he tossed it off, and stretched himself.

But after an army of little runts had licked the Russians, the tallest nation in Europe, the Japanese stopped worrying about their stature.

SPORT NOTES

Standing of Teams

	Won	Lost	Pct.
Native Sons	13	8	.619
Corte Colombo	13	8	.619
Odd Fellows	12	9	.571
Court Garfield	3	18	.142

This (Monday) evening the Native Son team will invade the sanctum sanctorum of Court Garfield and endeavor to regain some of the ground lost in their last disastrous sword-crossing with the redoubtable Odd Fellow team. On Tuesday evening the Odd Fellows will strive to maintain their steamroller tactics when they meet Corte Christiforo Colombo in a series that will mean temporary possession of second or possibly first place in the struggle.

Should either Colombo or the Odd Fellows sweep Tuesday's series, and the Natives tumble still further after meeting Garfield, either of the two former will slide auspiciiusly into top position.

At present writing the race is a virtual tie between the first and third teams with only one game separating the leaders from the rejuvenated Odd Felliw team which has come forward lately displaying considerable strength and skill in its maneuvers.

After a start which prophisied a run-away for first place the Native Sons have met with reverses in their last games which enabled their opponents to profit consderably and their own tail-feathers to ache and the followers of the horseshoe gamse will watch tonight's games closely to see if their slump is temporary or if they are about to crack up and settle down. One diagnosis of their trouble was horsepox (perhaps an offspring of the recent epidemic) but their leader emphatically denies this rumor.

You want to feel well dressed and have your garments spick and span for the season of winter festivities. Get out your dress suit or Tuxedo or your cutaway or sack suit and no matter how bad they look, we can restore them to their original freshness. Ladies' gowns or men's suits can be cleaned and pressed so that they will look like new when the work is done here.
